A software requirements specification document encompasses all the necessary requirements for project development.

□ : Center word

□ : Context words (window =2)

CBOW model: The inputs are the context words, while the output is the center word .
Skip-gram model: The input is the center word, while the outputs are the context words.